

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A dipole antenna is disclosed, and two electrodes thereof are respectively disposed on two surfaces of a substrate, wherein those two surfaces are parallel to each other. Metallic layers allocated in the substrate are used to control impedance match,
5 and to promote the antenna gain and operation bandwidth of the dipole antenna.